

George Lee Grow

8/13/45—3/21/24

“But I do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning those who have fallen asleep, lest you sorrow as others who have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so God will bring with Him those who sleep in Jesus. For this we say to you by the word of the Lord, that we who are alive and remain until the coming of the Lord will by no means precede those who are asleep. For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord. Therefore comfort one another with these words.” I Thessalonians 4:13-18 NKJV

Mount Pisgah Academy

Seventh-day Adventist Church

A Tribute

In loving memory of George Grow:

A beacon of light in our community, his passing leaves a profound void in the hearts of all who had the privilege of knowing him. For four decades, Mr. Grow graced the halls of Mount Pisgah Academy, not only as a science teacher but as a pillar of wisdom, kindness, and unwavering dedication to the growth of his students. His passion for Adventist education was not just a profession but a calling, inspiring generations to pursue knowledge with curiosity and integrity.

Beyond the confines of the classroom, George was a mentor, guiding countless young minds toward their fullest potential. His impact rippled through his students' lives, shaping them into compassionate individuals ready to make a difference in the world. As a friend, he offered warmth, support, and a listening ear, enriching the lives of those fortunate enough to call him a confidante.

Within the embrace of our church community, George's presence was a source of comfort and strength. His faith illuminated every aspect of his life, serving as a guiding light for others on their spiritual journeys. His unwavering belief in the promise of heaven brings solace in our sorrow, knowing that we will one day be reunited with him in eternal peace.
